Bunce (Ashbury) Limited have been manufacturing and marketing snow blowers and snow cutters in the UK since the late 1940's. We believe that we are currently the only British manufacturer of such equipment.

We have used some of our vast experience in this field to produce the Municipal range of p.t.o. driven two stage snow blowers the MU230 and the MU250.

These models are robust, unsophisticated and reliable units which can be fitted to the front or rear three point linkage and powered by the tractor's p.t.o. shaft. The snow blowers are equipped with a special twin input shafted gearbox which caters for the counter rotation of the front and rear p.t.o. shafts, thus maintaining the correct sense of rotation of the augers and fan. This means that they can be used with almost any suitably sized standard agricultural tractor, although we do recommend 4-wheel drive and crawler gearbox for optimum efficiency.

The standard model is equipped with manual chute rotation and manual adjustment of the top snow deflector. It is possible to have these units operated hydraulically as an optional extra.
